The Huntington Historical Society is offering children ages 7 to 12 a wonderful opportunity to come to our historical Conklin Barn & House Museum and spend an exciting morning experiencing life as a colonial child.

This adventure will begin in the barn working on a craft, dressing-up in colonial clothes, spinning wool, playing with colonial toys and churning butter which will be served on delicious corn bread. Following the barn activities, we will gather in the Conklin House and the children will be given a complete tour of the house! Here, they will learn all about the interesting artifacts throughout the house.

Your child(ren) will end their adventure with a stronger appreciation of colonial history!
